Rich Internet Bar Network Management Solutions

ed downtime of the servers will not affect the normal operation of the client side. In order to reduce the server pressure of data writing back, Rich XD V3.5 creatively adopts the cache technology in client memory data writing, which can keep the temporary files coming out from the process of client operation in local memory, this does not only greatly improve the write-back rate, but also enhance the capacity of server load, so that makes the server run with much higher speed and stability.
